Project Title: Georges Méliès

- I'd look for a higher quality image of Méliès to go on the home page
- The yellow color of the hover states for the menu links is too subtle. I would select a different, more saturated color. One idea is you could make each link turn into a different color. I would also get rid of the underlines because I think it would give the menu a cleaner look.
- I notice that 'Advancements,' 'Style,' and 'Legacy' don't have images like the other two pages.
- While you have it listed as 'Style' in the menu, the page is titled 'Visual Style' — I would choose one over the other in order to maintain consistency.
 - I also think that the copy for 'Advancements' accidentally got put on the 'Style' page
- I think the site's still missing the playful quality of Méliès' fantasy films. If anything, you might consider making more visually interesting backgrounds in inDesign or Photoshop and then uploading them to your site as background images.
